[Disney].CHENNAI: Just when everything seems to be collapsing, a ray of hope emerges in the form of Johnny, the key to Water's life of purpose. It is then that he begins to realise his life and that of his son will change. There are approximately 1.5 lakh patients with advanced stage cancer in India and 6,000 of them are by chance in Tamil Nadu. "Although we are making tremendous progress in treatment, the side effects of chemotherapy and radiation treatments are often debilitating and patients can't see past that. In addition, there is very little to no hope in some parts of the world," says P Muthulingam.

Muthulingam has been battling with lung cancer for the last six years. "My family is not well off and I haven't got a government sponsored insurance that the way wealthy people have,” he says. Toilets are a common problem in hospitals for the less fortunate who cannot afford to send their family members with them. Muthulingam has found a solution to this and he wants to share it with the rest of the world. He’s in the process of setting up a company called Leela Suriyam that will install a toilet in every hospital and deliver it to every newly admitted patient.

The toilets are manufactured and built in Kerala. “I’ve made contacts in Russia and Thailand. I’ve spoken to the Department of Biotechnology in the government of India, the Joint Disease Board under the National Cancer Grid, and Chief Ministers of various states,” says Muthulingam. “I’m sure that in some countries, every hospital has a basic toilet. It is not only India, the healthcare system in the United States is of similar proportions.

Besides, there is a growing number of patients with cancer. There are more and more of us suffering from the side effects of the treatments,” he says. The hospital toilet was introduced in the UK and Muthulingam has been attempting to set it up in India for the last two years. He did this by making an appeal through social media sites like Facebook and Twitter and got a reply from the Water 1cdb36666d compilation albums Association between the dopamine D2 receptor gene TaqI polymorphism and methamphetamine dependence in Japanese males. The contribution of the D2 dopamine receptor gene TaqI polymorphism to the etiology of schizophrenia and addictive disorders has been suggested. The D2 receptor TaqI polymorphism is assumed to be associated with the response to dopamine-modulating agents and addictive behaviors. We investigated the association between the TaqI polymorphism and addictive disorders in Japanese subjects. The subjects were 48 male
